MISS PILON'S SUIT

Viger Gains a Point By Having Letters Admitted.

The way is now clear for the hearing of the appeal in Miss Emma Pilon's breach of promise case against Alfred E. Viger of Pittsfield, Mass., in which she was awarded by a jury damages of $6,500. The latest development is the filing of the bill of exceptions by counsel for the defense and the finding of the court upon the same, in which he allows a point for Viger to be admitted in the testimony.

During the trial a number of anonymous letters were mentioned by the defendant, he claiming that they were received by him from Miss Pilon, though they were not signed with her name. Miss Pilon's counsel, Church and Moore, objected to the letters being admitted on the grounds that it was not shown they were written by her. Viger's counsel claimed them, however, on the grounds that they would show they were written by Miss Pilon. They were ruled out and defendant's counsel took an exception.

The court did not then state whether or not he would allow the exception, and it was only the other day that he gave notice he would allow it. This was a point won for the defendant. Not a very important one but still in a lawsuit everything counts. If the court did not allow the exception defendant's counsel could not bring in the letters in his appeal, whereas, by allowing it the supreme court must now decide whether or not they were admissible. It is expected that the supreme court will hear the appeal this month.

WANT TO LEAVE SCHOOL

Applicants Before Board of Education—Supt Tinker's Report.

Quite a number of boys and girls were on hand last evening when the board of education assembled to be granted permission to leave school. Some of them were sixteen, though they had not reached the fifth grade, and according to the school rules children must be kept at school until they have reached the fifth grade or sixteen years of age. The rule works a hardship on many parents but it was for the benefit of the children it was established, for a child who begins the battle for bread without having passed through the fifth grade at school is indeed poorly equipped. All of those on hand last evening were obliged to go home without being given a hearing as the committee on school attendance was not on hand.

Applications for positions as teachers were received from Miss Lucy F. Brown and Miss Maud K. Landon.

The following report was sent in by Superintendent Tinker: "I would report that the schools opened to-day at the usual time. It would seem from the incomplete returns at hand that there will be no serious over-crowding except possibly in the High school. The full school attendance will probably not be registered before Thursday or Friday."

"One new room has been opened in the Duggan, three at Webster, one at Welton, one at Walsh, one at Mulcahy, one at Croft, and I think that it will be necessary to open an additional room at Bishop street."

"Slightly over-crowded grades exist in the Bishop street, Clay street, Croft, Driggs and Merriman schools, which I think can be relieved by transfers."

"Principal Wilby of the High school reports that he thinks there will be thirty pupils more than the present seating capacity."

The report was filed. Rev Monsignor Slocum invited the board to attend the laying of the cornerstone of the St. Mary's hospital on Sunday, September 15, and the invitation was accepted. The bills and payrolls were then approved and the board adjourned.

MRS. ROOT SURPRISES PARIS

Woman Who Says She is a Cousin of Secretary Root Sent to Infirmary.

Paris, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Amy Root, who says she is a cousin of Elihu Root, American secretary of state, was taken to the infirmary of the prefecture of police under peculiar circumstances. The actual reason for the action of the police was her habit of riding in cabs, for which it was found difficult to get pay.

Mrs. Root made her debut in Paris Aug. 12 at a hotel just off the Avenue de l'Opera. She said she was from Rochester, N. Y., and was in the employ of the McCurdy-Torwell company. Her business cards bore out the statement.

The climax came when she was discovered by the proprietor of the hotel dancing on the dining room table. The hotel management decided to intervene. This drew strong protests from her. She insisted on practicing the terpsichorean art and said that if she were not allowed to do so in that hotel she would go to the Bal Tabarin. Driving back from there all alone she hit the cabman over the head with an umbrella or something hard. To find out what was happening inside he got down off the box just as she jumped out of the cab and took a second cab. Both cabmen demanded payment, and Mrs. Root was taken to the police station.

Theophilus Bar President McCrea. Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—It has been known for some time that there was dissension in the American Theosophical society. It now appears that James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, last spring was refused admission to membership in the organization. The American Theosophical society, according to some of its members, may be considered as being divided into two camps, that of the enthusiasts for pure science and that of the lovers of science, not for the sake of successful science itself so much as for the social frills which they regard as its legitimate and most to be desired accompaniment. The society element desired Mr. McCrea's election, and his defeat has caused much of the discussion which now pervades the society.

Telegraphers Go After Other Work.

New York, Sept. 4.—The Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies having refused overtures for arbitration to settle the strike of the 20,000 telegraphers, the fight now promises to become bitter. From now on the striking telegraphers will seek temporary employment in other trades. The 400 girls in this city started to get employment in dry goods houses. The summer vacations are over, and they say they can easily find other employment. They will seek employment also as telephone operators.

Husband May Go, but Her Cats, Never! Chicago, Sept. 4.—How to get rid of ten cats that are alleged to have alienated his wife's affections is the problem which Jacob Rosenberg, a professor of music, has asked the police of the Chicago avenue station to solve for him. He told Captain Barcel that when he begged his wife to diminish the number of her cats she replied, "Get out if you don't like it. My dear pets, my angels, Birdie, Lulu, Wabby, Pansy, Bowie Legs, Baby and the rest, they will never get out, be assured of that."

Killed in Powder Explosion. Cleveland, O., Sept. 4.—A terrific explosion occurred in the powder mill of the Austin Powder company, located a few miles south of the city, resulting in the death of one man and the fatal injury of another. Jacob Bantz was almost instantly killed, while Frank Morosi was frightfully injured and will die. Both were employees.

CHINESE INTERPRETER

Case Had to Be Again Postponed—Out Under Bonds.

The hearing of the charge of robbery against the two Celestials Chung Kow and Chung Maw of 264 North Main street was continued again to-day, owing to the lack of an interpreter. The state had no faith in the interpreter procured by the defense and on that account did not care to trust its case in his hands. Furthermore, Prosecutor McDermott stated that he had no chance to review the matter with the complainant, Willie Buck, as he does not understand a word of English and it was impossible to secure an interpreter. Mr. McGrath said he had sent to New York for an interpreter and he was expected to be on hand this morning but he did not appear.

The defense, which is to be conducted by Attorney Russell, was anxious to go on. He had implicit faith in the interpreter, and the witnesses knew sufficient English to protect their own interests. His clients, he said, had been put to great expense in securing evidence and more than that, the case was not one-half as bad as reported. In fact, he said, the arrest of the accused did not take place until some two or three days after the transaction alleged is said to have taken place.

Judge Burpee sided with the prosecutor and, while he continued the cases to to-morrow, he reduced the bond from $300 to $200. They were immediately released and the men lost no time in getting out of the room. They were under the impression for a few moments that they were at liberty for good.

BROOKLYN BRIEFS.

—Miss Rose Rafferty is spending the week in New York.

—Miss May McAllister of Poplar avenue is on a vacation to Norwalk.

—The Borchart family have returned from Laurel beach where they have been the past five weeks.

—Miss Katharine Sheridan of Bridgeport is the guest of the McGrath family of Poplar avenue.

—James Ray has returned to Rome, N. Y., after spending a few days at his home in this section.

—Miss Louise J. Malone of Bank street, has returned from her vacation and is ready to resume her music classes.

—Miss Irene Kilmartin of South Leonard street, who spent the past week at Walnut beach, intends to spend the next few days in Hartford.

—When asked this morning what ticket he thought would win out in the third ward Hans Rasmussen said that there would be nothing to it but Walker, Fitzsimmons and Keavney. "It will be so one sided that there'll be no fight," was the way he put it.

—The opposition to the Peasley forces in the third are trying to make it as unpleasant as possible for Alderman Thomas B. Walker one of the candidates for re-election. They are keeping him busy trying to show that he has not been very selfish in regard to appropriations for his district. Walker and his backers evidently surmise that the attacks on him are coming from the opposition but he claims that they will not hurt him in the least at the primaries to-day. The fight has become very bitter but at the present writing it looks as though the Peasley-Kelsey faction would win out. They apparently have the Young Men's Republican club on the run and are likely to be ahead at the finish. Yesterday one of the Peasley crowd offered to bet $50 that Walker, Fitzsimmons and Keavney would win out. No matter which side wins there is likely to be a great many disgruntled members of the group on election day.

ATTRACTION IN BROOKLYN.

West Porter Street Man is in the Limelight.

Brooklyn has had curious in the past and there have been all kinds of attractions on the other side of the bridge. It has all kinds of excitement and it takes something out of the ordinary to surprise the populace at that section of the city. But the latest fact that is to establish itself in the district beyond the bridge is likely to cause some amusement. It is to be furnished by one, August Fear of 31 West Porter street. This is the way his card reads:

August Fear.

Sole Owner of "Lovers' Lane." Dealer in Love, Kisses and Up-To-Date Hugs: A trial is all I ask I have no solicitors; I deliver the goods myself; special attention to rush orders; 31 West Porter street. Developments are awaited.

Manstieff Moves on to Widow.

New London, Conn., Sept. 4.—"After the payment of my just debts it is my desire that my entire estate, both real and personal, go to my wife, Beatrice Cameron Mansfield." This, one of the shortest on record, is the last will and testament of Richard Mansfield, the actor. It was made in 1894, when Mrs. Mansfield, who had then been the wife of the actor two years, retired from the stage. No will was made after that time. No codicil was added. As he thought then, he thought when he died, and the widow under a paragraph was named the sole executrix without bond.

Mrs. McDonald May Re-enter Jail.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Determined that his stepmother, Mrs. Dora McDonald, facing a murder trial for the death of Webster Goerlin, shall be taken back to jail, Guy McDonald declared that in the event State Attorney Healy refused to release the McDonald estate from the $50,000 bond he would appeal to the courts. State Attorney Healy took under advisement the request made by Guy McDonald, who has set forth that his father's estate should not be held responsible for the bond of Mrs. Dora McDonald.
